

NACE Travel Grant Application Form

GUIDELINES

The NACE Travel Grants program supports early to mid-career researchers to showcase NACE allergy research. All NACE-funded postgraduate scholars and postdoctoral fellows are eligible to apply for this funding. This can be used to support your presentation of allergy research at in-person, virtual and hybrid domestic conferences. International travel is not eligible under the NACE grant agreement. For example, international flights and accommodation are not eligible costs. International conference registration cost may be an eligible cost for outputs related to NACE-funded scholarships/fellowships.

Applications per scholar/fellow throughout their candidature are unlimited, but subject to a maximum funding amount as detailed below.

Applications are accepted throughout the year. It is highly recommended to submit applications at least 4 weeks prior to the conference date. Otherwise, a minimum notice of 2 weeks is required for the application to be considered.

Selection criteria:

- Alignment with NACE vision and mission
- Output must be related to NACE-funded scholarship/fellowship
- Abstract must be accepted for oral or poster presentation at conference
- Up to a maximum of $4000 before June 2026 to be granted per scholar/fellow

You must include proof of abstract submission or acceptance for oral or poster presentation. A preliminary approval may be granted based on abstract submission, with final approval pending acceptance. NACE Publication Guidelines must be followed to acknowledge NACE support for the research.

Grant recipients must arrange and pay for your own registration and travel costs, and claim grant funds as reimbursement after attending the conference by submitting a claim form (to be provided) and receipts.
